NOT DECLASSIFIED

Saturday, January 5, 1952

I struggled this morning with the Mademoiselle Sicard matter. The general consensus is that a reasonable doubt exists either way whether she has or has not Communist sympathies.

I talked to Bill Trimble on the telephone in Holland this morning urging him to do everything he could - which I am sure he is doing - to bring the Dutch around to a more cooperative attitude in the European Army affair.

I had a further talk with M. Bidault regarding our conversation of last night and think it is in satisfactory shape. I discussed this same subject with Harry Labouisse, and later with General Richards.

We had for lunch to-day Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Sulzberger, Mademoiselle Eve Curie, Mr. Alexander Griswold, Lord and Lady Harcourt, Mrs. Griselda Forbes and M. Hervé Alphand.

E. and I went down to spend the night at Versailles, and I worked a good part of the night on material for a speech to the NATO College next week. The subject assigned

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
REVIEWED BY CRC 7-1-81
or XDS EXT. DATE
ENDORSE EXISTING MARKINGS
DECLASSIFIED RELEASABLE
RELEASE DENIED
PA or FOI EXEMPTIONS

NOT DECLASSIFIED

me is US foreign policy. Unfortunately for myself, the phase of this policy with which I am most familiar - the North Atlantic Treaty Organization - will be covered by another lecturer.

Jamie Bonbright called me from Washington to-night about [redacted] a matter affecting the European Army Conference.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
REVIEWED BY CEC 7-1-81
XDS EXT. DATE
TS AUTH. REASON(3)
ENDORSE EXISTING MARKINGS
DECLASSIFIED RELEASABLE
RELEASE DENIED
PA or FOI EXEMPTIONS